Submission Details

The following page contains information on the required narrative and photography format. Please go to <https://www.osmre.gov/programs/abandoned-mine-land-awards-program> for specific information on the nomination process and where to submit your nomination. Photos and video submitted are subject to use by OSMRE.

Project Narrative

The narrative should describe the abandoned mine problem, including background and reclamation techniques used. Narrative should not exceed six single-spaced pages. The text should contain photo captions and references to maps, diagrams or other graphics.

Graphics and Photos

Photos and graphics should show the specific activity, the surrounding conditions and provide a clear understanding of the reclamation accomplishments. Provide before-and-after sequences, prefer historic photos from the origins of the mine, to show benefits of reclamation work. Photos should be between three to five megapixels.

Electronic Submission Format

Each nomination package must include a project description in Adobe PDF format and separate JPGs for all photos. While the nomination may include photos in the project description PDF file, a separate JPG for each photo is required to include a cover photo in JPG format. Photos should be between three to five megapixels.

Video Submission

Send unedited video, no longer than 10 minutes in length. It should include the following:

- Before/after video of the site, beauty shots, shots of innovations created
- On camera video of the work being performed
- On-camera interviews of people affected
- Video of the products or services that resulted from the restoration/reclamation
- On-camera interviews with people who did the work
- On-camera interviews with people who benefited from the work

Video Format

- HD Video, 1080p (or higher)
- Ambient sound only
- No narration
- No music
- No graphics
- No visible time codes
